TOPICS: 3 Dimensional Coaching, Team Cohesion Strategies & Shaping Culture Using 3D Framework (AD's).

Jackie Fuller & Christy Harkins General & AD

Coaching longevity in today's world is becoming obsolete; burnout and parent issues quickly drive away good coaches. With over 64 combined years of successful experience in education through coaching, teaching, and administration, Jackie Fuller (Whitefish HS) and Christy Harkins (Glacier HS) have teamed up to share key principles for strengthening organization and communication skills, which they believe generate coaching longevity. GENERAL SESSION: Tricks of the trade, helping coaches of all sports strongly organize their programs and clearly communicate with players, parents, and administration. AD SESSION: Tools admin can use to create coaching success and retain coaches, allowing them to reach their full potential.

Willie Banks T&F – Triple Jump

Few athletes have ever embodied the Olympic spirit as well as Willie Banks. As a member of three Olympic Teams in track and field in 1980, 1984 and 1988 and of two World Championship teams in 1983 and 1987, Willie learned much about the values of the Olympic Games. In 1985, he set the world record in the triple jump; a record that was not broken for an incredible ten years. For his accomplishment Willie was the Athlete of the Year by both Track & Field News and the United States Olympic Committee in 1985. Today Willie not only stays fit, he continues to break Masters' world records in track and field. Willie loves the Olympic movement but much more importantly, he lives it every single day.

Allison Lawrence Volleyball

Allison Lawrence completed her 12th season with the Montana volleyball program in 2021, which includes her 5 years at the helm. After several seasons of missing the Big Sky Conference tournament, Lawrence has guided the Grizzlies back to the conference tournament in 3 consecutive fall seasons, with Montana exceeding its preseason ranking in 4 straight falls. In 2021, Montana had its best season in terms of wins and winning percentage since 2013, beating rivals Montana State, Eastern Washington and Idaho along the way, in addition to winning the program's first preseason tournament – the UND Classic – since 2006. She has developed 3 All-Big Sky selections in the past 4 seasons, and off the court, has built a culture that helped Montana earn the USMC/AVCA Team Academic Award for academic excellence.
